THE NEW MARKET.

The "Mercado Modelo" in the Plaza Lorea, which was inaugurated on Sunday, is another evidence of the rapid growth and advancement of this city. Very many of those who accepted M. Lanus's invitation and attended the interesting ceremony, remember when the bullock-carts with hides, sheepskins and wool from the camp came into the Lorea, and the produce was sold, as to-day, in the old Plaza Constitucion. Others, and people of still more recent times, remember when, on the very site of the new market, stood the Half back and Dorr flour mill, whose tall chimney was the admiration of the whole "barrio" or parish, some twenty-five years ago. Municipal progress, however, seemed always to claim the Lorea for it was in this very plaza that the first water tank for the first water works was put up, and holds its own till this day. Of all the changes that mark the Lorea the new market is, however, the greatest, the last and the best. We walked through the market inspecting and admiring everything, and really found it difficult to realize that such a magnificent market could exist in dear old Buenos Aires.

Improvements that one could only expect to see in the newest London or Parisian markets, we witnessed on all sides. Cleanliness and ventilation, the most essential requirements for a city market, were its predominating features. Change, change, change, so stamps everything in this city, that we should not be surprised to see the ladies of Buenos Aires go to the market now in their carriages, since, round through the whole market there is a carriage drive wider than the streets of the town—marble slabs, iron pillars, Vesuvius baldosas, steel Venetian shutters, perforated iron screens dividing the stalls, and adamantine asphalt "adoquined" pavement. These meet the eye on all sides, whilst, ascending the grand stairs, one finds himself in immense saloons for clubs, cafes, fondas, &c. The Club Progreso saloons cannot rival in length and size some of those stately halls which form the upper story of the building, facing the Lorea square and the Calle San Jose.

As we entered the market at the appointed hour, we found the whole Bolsa of Buenos Aires on the premises. Brokers, merchants, bankers, barraqueros, consignees of produce, all were there, and all seemed astonished at the Municipal magnificence of the concern. Although the market was opened to the people for the first time that morning, fully half the stalls were tenanted.

The show of fat beef and mutton was only to be rivalled by the fruit, apples and peaches, as numerous as the pebbles on the sea-shore—pears by the thousand. We inquired where all this fruit came from, as some gentlemen thought the apples and pears were from Montevideo, but learned that they all came from the islands of the Parana. What orchards must have grown up on those islands to supply such fruit. The beef and mutton were the fattest and best we ever saw in a Buenos Airean market, and at one stall a butcher told us he took on that morning $1,700 m/c for meat alone, and all from new customers.

The market is intensely Gothic in general get-up and style. It has four principal entries, two in the Plaza Lorea and two in Calle San Jose. The stalls are neat, finished, roomy and the very pink of cleanliness. The fish stalls, with an abundant supply of vats, water-cocks and beautiful marble slabs were very attractive. The side-walks are all made of the Vesuvius baldosa, the same as one sees at the Carabassa Bank.

Facing the plaza there are splendid almacens, with cellars that remind one of the Catacombs. Over these almacens are those saloons the like of which are not to be found in any other building in Buenos Aires. We saw one saloon 83 metres long. Such a saloon for a banquet, with the beef and mutton ready at hand in the market below!

In the centre castellated tower that overlooks the market is a large clock, whilst special attention has been paid to the water-closets, urinals, &c., generally speaking the most neglected parts in all other city markets.

Mr. Moog, the talented architect of the market, and who has adorned this city with some of its finest private buildings, was complimented on all sides for his great triumph in this new market; all the newest improvements of the markets of Berlin have been imported to Buenos Aires; 4 large water pillar plugs supply an abundance of water to wash the whole place inside out. The stalls number 139, and the rents vary from 15 to 35$ per day, the rents being as in all markets paid every evening. The offices of the market director are fitted up almost for a bank, and although the site is one of the most valuable in town, and the edifice cost some 7 millions currency, so admirable are the arrangements that we believe the property will prove one of the best paying in this city. In complimenting Messrs. Lanus on their splendid enterprise in turning the old mill site into such a stately market, we cannot but remark, that the giant march and progress of the country is beginning to tell on the genius of its inhabitants. Fast as the country marches, we find men like Lanus striking out from the old routine and marching with it.

Ten years ago such a magnificent market would be but a magnificent extravagance; to-day it meets a want long felt and is a credit to our city. The population of this city is growing very fast. Before five years are over Buenos Ayres will have certainly over half a million of inhabitants. To keep pace with such progress, we must all strip to work, and, following the example of Messrs. Lanus, labour to benefit the people of the country by such solid, useful investments.

A grand banquet for several hundred guests was spread in the saloons upstairs, facing the Calle San Jose, whilst in the saloons on the opposite side of the market, facing the plaza, was a banquet spread for the butchers; the heat, however, was so great, that we attended neither. The police band discoursed the most appetizing music in the yard beneath, and all the art of the popular proprietor of the Confiteria del Aguila was employed to make the banquet at both tables Babylonian in abundance and magnificence. It was most agreeable to find, in the crowds such a very strong gathering of some of our most representative Bolsa and city men, who comply with the duties of their position and fortune by attending such ceremonies. The mere invitation for beafsteaks and mutton chops, Cliquot or Chambertin, could never have brought them there; they were there to countenance and assist by their presence the completion of a new and great enterprise, and their presence really spoke as much for the greatly improved moral tone of the people as did the market itself of the material progress of this city.

PORT OF BAHIA BLANCA.

A place of such very growing importance as Bahia Blanca must needs have great attraction for foreigners in the Plate. We all, even though unknowingly, possess more or less of the Sir Walter Raleigh spirit; it is that spirit which carries our countrymen to the wilds of Rio Negro and Sauce Corto, and which has spread the sons of the British Isles through every portion of the habitable globe. Due to many powerful causes, Bahia Blanca is rising to the front with a rapidity intelligible only to those who know the agents that are at work and the great commercial levers that are at play. Hundreds of foreign ships will, during the present year, enter this port which but a few years ago was marked on no map, and even to this day is in a state of the most primeval neglect.

We are indebted to Don Felix Dufourg of the Argentine navy for the following important paper, read last year at the Naval Club, on this port, which it affords us much pleasure to translate, with a view that so invaluable a document may find its way into the many maritime papers printed in England, and thus serve to instruct those British captains who may be chartered for Bahia Blanca. At a lovely spot on the South coast, called Punta Raza, there lies the hull of one of the largest ships, the Admiral; 700 tons of Barlow rails lie there in a few feet of water; with the least effort these rails might be got out, but no one knows anything of them save the sheepfarmers and estancieros on the coast, and in fact none of the Admiral's cargo would have been lost, save for the mishap that the first portion brought ashore consisted of 150 barrels of American whiskey. Every one from Patagones to Punta Raza, and we suppose from there to Bahia Blanca, got drunk on the salvage; for months a sober man in any walk of life down there could not be found; the waves came, and the wind blew, and the 'peones' and 'patrons' all drank the whiskey, and thus this magnificent three thousand ton ship was utterly and hopelessly lost. Even to this day the rails at low water raise their rusty heads over the sea-beaten sand.

Mr. Dufourg, in his dissertation says, "Bahia Blanca lies in 62 W. Greenwich and 29 S. Lat.; the bay may be split in two, the first portion is wide and stretched out, and is properly called Port Belgrano, and is surrounded with the largest number of sand banks, which are met with everywhere in this immense bay made by the sea. The second portion is narrow and is much obstructed by those immense mud deposits called 'cangrejales,' owing to their being infested with millions and millions of 'cangrejos' (crabs). The current in the bay runs from W.N.W. to E.S.E. between two banks of different aspect and geological nature. The left margin, or say the North, is high and formed of 'cordons' of 'medanos,' sandhills, which reach a height of 22 metres over the sea, with the exception of Punta Alta and Monte Hermoso, (which is 36 metres over the sea) whose base is formed of what is commonly called 'tosca,' and these rocks of tosca stretch out to the sea and render the approach difficult for vessels or even the lightest draught. The left margin or bank of the bay is low and swampy at high tide, affording the phenomenon of an immense placid sea. This limit of the bay on the South is that which boasts of most islands called the group 'Zuraita,' which stretch down to the mouth of the Colorado taking in the bays called 'Falsa' and 'Verde,' which are both settled on and stocked with valuable animals. The two more important of these islands are the 'Trinidad' a plan of which is given by Fitzroy, and 'La Verde' which is S.E. ¼ S. of it, and separated from the main land by a little creek which is formed only at the very highest tides. 'La Verde' has abundance of wood, good pasturage and well-watered. On the North coast of the bay very little wood is found, mere shrubs with sharp thorns, but the cactus grows well.

The channel or canal of Bahia Blanca is a salt-water delta, and here on these great 'cangregales' or flat banks there is no vegetation; the tides have continual agency on these banks, forming thereby distinct canals from Monte Hermoso to the Island of Zuraita and Anchor Stock; but many of these are not real canals, as they afford entrances only, there being no way through or out; they are called sacks and are most dangerous for the mariners, since vessels navigating in 30 feet of water are exposed to be left high and dry in these 'cangregales,' where they soon go to pieces.

The most dangerous sacks are those which exist between the Gaucho or Gate banks, and those of Toro Alto. Now these are very small, and one of them has been thoroughly buoyed by the remains of the pontoon Manuelita.

PATAGONES.

COMMANDER ROA'S EXPEDITION.

The expedition under the command of Comandante Lino O de Roa, which penetrated into the heart of Patagones, has returned to its encampment on the banks of the Chupat, having travelled over 500 leagues of camp comprised between the meridians 8 and 13 West long. from Buenos Aires and 40-45 South latitude, up to the present unexplored. From a letter from the Chief of the expedition to the Governor of Patagones, we make the following extracts:—

The central portion of Patagonia does not in any way respond to the prevalent ideas which people have about same. It is anything but a level country, such as the Southern Indian country, but is composed of hills, small mountains, tablelands and gulches. From the E. N. E. to E. S. E. several chains of sierras run which assume larger proportions between meridians 9 and 13 (Buenos Aires long.) and parallels 41 to 44.

There is nothing so varied and which presents such strange contrasts as this region. To bare mountains with their barren rocks, table-lands of basalt, and slate quarries where the only vegetation met with is stunted shrubs, the prickly and thorny cactus and some poor grasses, succeed beautiful and open valleys, rich in water and pasturage, and having a fertility that can hardly be conceived. Wherever you look your eyes meet with flowers of every tint, and having the most delicious perfume; gummy and oderiferous plants grow in great variety. The grasses are excellent and grow thickly together, outrivalling in luxuriance and freshness the barley, wild pea, oats and alfilerillo, under which lies hidden a thick carpet of 'gramilla' and 'trevol.'

The waters, which run in the form of streamlets and extend in distances of 2, 3, 4 and 8 leagues, are always to be found in the bottom of the valleys, rising from springs, of which there are many in the region, notwithstanding the popular belief that a drop of water is not to be found here.

The natural formation of these regionsis eminently volcanic; huge fragments of granite and basalt cover all the high parts, the sides of the hills, and even the low lying lands, various classes of quartz and lava can be found amongst the rocks. Chalk is very abundant in these territories, especially near the rivers Chupat and Senger.

The region close by the Cordillera is more fertile and beautiful than that of the Interior. The flowers are more varied, and reach a higher degree of perfection, though of the same species. The valley of the Senger could not be more beautiful, and for riches, there are few that can equal it. Without a doubt this place will be the seat of an opulent city, with such vast and fertile plains to found same on, and watered by such a large and beautiful river. The Cordillera is close by with its magnificent valleys and gulches, where timber grows in abundance, and its hills hold reserved treasures for the man of enterprise and courage.

It is impossible to imagine a panorama more beautiful than that which meets the eye when standing on the 'Cuchilla" that bounds the valley of the Senger on its right bank. It is necessary to be on the spot to feel that delightful emotion which enters the soul when contemplating it. It is something so beautiful, that words fail to give any accurate description of what it really is.

Notwithstanding this, as the author of the letter says, how quickly this calm scene was to change! At 1 p.m., where a few hours before everything was calm and peaceful, a scene of desolation was enacted. To tranquillity and repose succeeded the war cry of the savage and the clash of arms. The joyous chirpings of the birds was in a moment drowned by the maddening gallop of the horses—the clear and unclouded sky became obscured, shutting out the rays of the sun, and the fresh and balmy air of the morning changed quickly, in the beginning to a tepid and afterwards to a sickening closeness, impregnated with smoke and potash, which made breathing even difficult. To the secular silence of the Cordillera succeeded the report of fire-arms, the clash of steel and the yells of horsemen engaged in mortal combat.

This sudden change was caused by an engagement with the Indians. Having travelled over and explored the region to the north of the Senger, we expected to surprise the tribes of Cumeleo and Huenchurecul, and afterwards reach Tapaley, to explore it and if possible surprise Incayal, who had joined seven other caciques, and whom we supposed was encamped near that place. But the tribes in the north having discovered us, immediately sent chasques and made fires, so that Incayal as well as the tribes in the north were only too well prepared to receive us when we arrived. As a natural consequence, we were unable to do anything against any of them. After a skirmish, which lasted from 12 to 4 p.m., we retired with our horses completely worn out, whilst those of the Indians were in splendid condition. The Indians scattered themselves and retreated into the Cordillera by different ways, and we returned to our camp.

The sufferings and privations of the troops have been very great. Being obliged to travel by day (as owing to the natural formation of the ground they were unable to travel by night besides it was necessary we should explore this region) they suffered awfully from the intense heat. One month after leaving the Balcheta, all our provisions ran short; they consisted of flour, tea, sugar, and jerked beef, and we were reduced to live on lean and tired mares' flesh, without salt. The troops, as was natural to suppose, suffered great privations, and there were moments when I feared that, due to fatigue, the heat and scanty nourishment, a sickness of an epidemic character would break out amongst them. To prevent, in every measure I could, this evil which threatened, I made the troops bathe whenever an opportunity offered, and also eat berries and other medicinal plants, which grow here in great abundance, and which possess the qualities of mild purgatives. Due to these precautions the health of the troops remained good during the expedition.

Having explored the River Chupat, we found that it possesses the valley which many persons deny the existence of, who have not gone to the trouble of finding out. It is also believed that the waters of this river run through rocks, thrown there by eruptions, with a current equal to that of a torrent, which is also untrue. There is no doubt that at certain points the valley is very narrow, but there are also, besides these parts, splendid camps with magnificent "rinconos," covered even in this season of the year with a rich and varied vegetation. The exposed portion of the river measures 105 leagues.

Several points of the Cordillera have been explored; in one of them we discovered a large lake, whose limits we were unable to reach. From it flows a large river which according to the Indians flows through Chile and enters the Pacific.

The chief of the expedition in his letter states that in a short time he intends exploring the lake and river.

There are now explored the territories to the North of Patagonia which up to to-day were marked in our maps under the title of "unexplored territories". This will always be a great satisfaction to General Winter, whose name will always survive as long as the lake above mentioned. He has also paid the same compliment to the Ministers of War and Interior, christening two ranges of mountains belonging to the North Patagonian Range with their names. After Dr Zeballos, the initiator and founder of the Arg. Geographical Institute, he has called another mountain lying to the North of Chupat whose peak is always covered with snow.

The above data are all that Commander Roa has given up to date; but it is sufficient to prove what a splendid territory he has explored and the splendid lands that await the hand of the colonist to make them smiling villages.

LATEST FROM THE CAMP.

Salto, March 20th, 1884

To the Editor of the Standard.

Dear Sir,

With many others in your city you will be glad to hear that we have had our share of the rains of the 14, 16 and 17th, which indeed was very badly needed.

In parts of this partido the camp was very bad, and many who had moved their flocks could not have brought them back until after the lambing, were it not for the recent rains.

As it is, all look forward to the coming season as a good one; even parties on gramilla camp, who have had to move the winters past, are now in good spirits after the long drought, to see the winter grasses coming up.

High rent is yet the rule here in Salto, and the wonder is how people can pay such sums as 16 and 17,500 for a puesto.

Notwithstanding all the Standard has said about moving outside, but very few have done so, but like our friend Mr A. Geoghegan of Pergamino, stick to the 'old idea,' until very lately it's a question if he would have taken 'pasto fuerto' camp as a present. But times are changing and men with them, for I see by the Standard of last week that he goes to Loreto to revise camp there, not to rent but to buy.

I know some few who attended the Venado Tuerto and Loreto land auctions and who formed an 'opinion' of the business which has resulted so favorably to the purchasers, and given such splendid results to that enterprising gentleman Mr. Casey, who put these lands on the market.

Although I agree with you that novillos must be put on to Mestiza Camp to fatten, I must differ as to any scarcity of fat animals. I know a party in this Partido who brought in his novillos last September from Lincoln, and has them on splendid pasture and in splendid condition. Some short time since he sent to your city a small troop, for which he had to be satisfied with 350 $ % each, consequently he sent no more, but I hear he has done a better business with a party from San Antonio.

I have just now before me a letter from Rojas which says "our camp is very good, all stock fat, but no buyers for novillos."

Since the rain there is a better demand for sheep 'al corte,' as high as 37$ has been paid.

I remain truly yours

SWISS EMIGRATION.

We have received by the mail the following circular:—

The following is the report of Mr Joseph Greger, Immigration Agent for the Province of Buenos Aires, during his stay in Basle, lasting from 1st of Nov. 1882 to 1st of January 1884.

Letters Received 1285. (All these letters were questions asking for information regarding the climate, soil etc of the Argentine Republic.)

Letters Answered 1258.

The remaining 27 were answersd in the beginning of the present year.

In March 1883 Mr Greger established a society for emigration to the Argentine Republic and colonization, called "The Argentine German Society for Emigration and Colonization in the Argentine Republic" in Basle.

This company is composed of, according to the statement made up at the end of the year, 315 members besides 204 women and 692 children, amongst the latter are 300 between the ages of 12 and 21.

Of those members there emigrated to the Argentine Republic—

38 single men
30 married
22 women
68 children

making a total of 158 souls.

The single men took with them in money, etc $80,000 %, and the remainder 260,000 %.

The following 143 souls were not members of the Society but were provided with letters of recommendation: They were as follows—

Single men	67
Married	22
Women	16

The money etc taken by the former amounted to $275,000 %, and by the latter to $750,000 %. There were 164 Germans and 137 Swiss.

To foment emigration to the Argentine Republic, pamphlets on the Province of Buenos Ayres were written by Mr Greger and forwarded to the Emigration Agents in Germany, Austria and Switzerland, who in their turn distributed them amongst the people wishing to emigrate. Mr. Greger also edited a weekly journal which contained descriptions of the colonies, climate, soil, etc., in the Argentine Republic. In fact, to prove to the public and to the emigrant the productiveness of the Argentine Republic, he intends opening a permanent exhibition in Basle, where all the natural productions, etc., of the country can be seen. This exhibition, he believes will give splendid results regarding emigration to the country. The immigration agent, if he wishes that his mission be a success, should not go to scientific, geographical or other societies, or even to large cities, but to the centre of the pastoral settlements, villages and small towns. To effect this, you must have an agent who can both speak and write well, without which it is impossible to do anything.

The mission of the Immigrant Agent is a very difficult and delicate one, that is, if he does his work properly.

All the Government has to do now is to offer good lands to the immigrant, and there is not a doubt that the Swiss emigration will be large and constant.

THE ANGLO-AMERICAN LAND MORTGAGE COMPANY, LIMITED.

The immense progress of development in the United States has of late years produced a great demand for money from farmers who purchase their lands, but who, not usually being wealthy men, need money to enable them to cultivate and stock their farms. This has resulted in the establishment of Companies in England and Scotland, whose business it is to lend money to industrious farmers to help them in improving and cultivating their farms. These Companies seem to be doing well; many of them paying handsome dividends, namely, from 8 to 12 per cent. The balance-sheet of the above-named Company—which is little more than a year old—is now before us, and we see that the Directors are giving the Shareholders a dividend of 5 per cent the first year, and that their Report holds out the propect of steadily increasing dividends. This does not seem to be a bad beginning, and, looking at the wide field there is for the profitable investment of capital in the Western States of America, there seems to be no reason to doubt that the anticipations of the Directors will be fully realised.

BUENOS AIRES GREAT SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY.

The following letter, addressed to the Editor, appears in "Herepath's Journal:"—

Sir,

The announcement by the Board during the week that a locomotive has run through from the city of Buenos Aires to the port of Bahia Blanca, and therefore that the extension line has been completed to Bahia Blanca, tells us of a great success, namely, the extension within the specified time. Thus this great extension line, which a little more than doubles the length of the old main line from Buenos Aires to Azul, has been constructed, like the previous extensions, within the estimated period, and I dare say also like them within the estimated cost. The whole of the new extensions were to have been completed, according to the contract with the Government, by April 20, 1884. The Ayacucho and Tandil extension has already been opened, and now the completion of the great extension to Bahia Blanca is announced about three months before it is due.

The secret of the great success of the Buenos Aires is economical construction, the result of spirited, business-like, excellent management. The company used to have a Government guarantee of 7 per cent. Years ago they wisely did the Government and themselves the service of throwing up that guarantee, and constructsd extensions without guarantee. In effect they guaranteed themselves, and got a vast deal more than any Government guarantee yielded, for the extension lines, economically and well made, yield much more than a seven per cent. Government guarantee. What the new extensions will do by way of dividend-making it is impossible at this moment to say, but it is understood that the comparatively short extension from Ayacucho to Tandil, thirty-nine miles, opened so smartly in August last, is already yielding well, and the greater extension from Azul to Bahia Blanca has made its first advance towards prosperity in its economiul construction. The line penetrates into a new district, but for the most part a district teeming with Nature's wealth, and which required a railway for development. The railway is made, and it remains to be seen what the country will yield for it in traffic. There is no doubt that in time the traffic development will be large, but what will immediately arise is just now the question. Whatever does come will be made the most of. We may be sure it will be worked with economy, while the amount of capital on which dividend will have to be paid will be low. For railway success it is even more important to have a low capital expenditure than a large traffic. The opened lines of the company yield a handsome 11 per cent., not so much because they carry a large traffic as that the capital cost of the lines average a low figure.

Many lines have a much larger traffic than the Buenos Aires Great Southern; few, however, make so good a dividend. The explanation is to be found in the gratifying circumstance to which allusion has been made, and this circumstance, be it remembered, will be in operation with respect to the Bahia Blanca line, just opened—namely, low capital cost.

One reason why this cost is low, is that the Directors have seized upon the favourable opportunity afforded by extremely cheap steel rails and low freights.

Now, let us turn for a moment to another view which the Buenos Aires Great Southern picture presents—the progress [of the revenue. This is charming, and flatters the hope that the whole line will continue to make handsome returns even before the new lines fully develop the resources. It is announced that in the twenty-six weeks ending December 30th last, the increase in the traffic has amounted to £44,260. This is over the gross revenue of the corresponding six months, ending December, 1882, when there was an increase of £45,855, so that increase upon increase has thus taken place to this large extent! If the old lines go on advancing at this rate, not much will be required from the new in order to keep up the 11 per cent. dividend. The new lines will not commence to form a charge upon revenue until July 1st, 1885. Again, the first three weeks of the present year the traffic increase amounts to £9,000, a rate of increase even much larger than for the past half-year, large as that is.

A HILL OF TREES.

Buenos Ayres, March 17.

Dear Standard,

I enclose you a cutting from a Yankee journal which I think you should insert, or extract from if too long. In this country the neglect of tree-planting is almost a national sin.

Yours truly,

Spectator.

It is comparatively easy to render prairie farms beautiful by the judicious planting of ornamental trees. A correspondent of the "Country Gentleman" writes:—

"A friend of mine moved from the picturesque hills and lovely woods of western New York to a prairie country, treeless and level. Although at first he duly appreciated his new home for its practical utility in being so level, and blessed his luck in having no stumps to pull, yet its monotony became unbearably wearisome, and he was homesick for a sight of rugged, but beautiful Cattaraugus. Trees he had, for his first care was to plant windbreaks, and a ten-acre forest of soft maples, and cotton-woods, but hills were missing. Finally he told his wife that 'he was going to make a hill at least 100 feet high,' about 1,000 feet in front of the house. When I saw this hill it was about 75 feet high, and one of the most beautiful sights I ever saw. This is the way it is made. In the centre of a circular land, about 200 feet in diameter, he set a cotton-wood tree and 20 feet away a circle of six cotton-wood trees. The centre tree was much larger and thriftier than the circle. Twenty feet distant was another circle—this one of willows, set 15 feet apart. Then followed catalpa, allanthus, osage, orange, and last holly. These outer circles were closer, and the trees, being of smaller kinds, were set closer. By cultivation and manuring he endeavoured to bring the central trees to a more luxuriant growth than the outer one, and has succeeded in a remarkable degree. The result is a solid green hill of foliage that will soon be 100 feet high in the centre, and slopes down to about ten feet at the base. My friend tells me that he does not think he made the best possible selection of varieties, but could do better now in making a uniform grade. My friend is "building" another hill on a modification of this principle. This is to be an evergreen hill, and for the place of honour he has a white pine surrounded by spruces, and the varieties graded as to size to the edge. To secure a greater hill appearance he allows five years to elapse between the planting of the different circles, so that when the last circle is set the central tree will be 25 years old.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The mails for the French steamer Niger close to-day at noon, it being a "dia feriado."

The rain yesterday morning was truly tremendous while it lasted, but did not cool the air very much, as the sun came up smiling later in the day. During the downpour the streets were flooded, and in most of them a sail in a light draught boat was quite possible for an hour or so, as the water completely mastered the sumpts for a time. People sighed as they thought of La Plata in such a deluge. For the camp the rain means salvation.

The Italian steamer Sirio has brought European dates to 28th ult. Amongst the news is the announcement of the fall of Tokar, and tremendous sensation in England. This must be a mistake. Surely Havas could not have allowed such a very important event to escape his notice. The Prince of Wales made a splendid speech in the House of Lords on the necessity of improving the dwellings of the Poor in London. The Conservatives are so hard up for a grievance that "Staffy" absolutely opposed the paltry supplementary credit the Government asked for to meet the Soudan mess—£410,000. In the House of Representatives in Washington, a Bill has been presented to prohibit aliens holding real estate. Thousands of workmen are out on strike in all the Northern countries of Europe. Fearful storms in England and the United States, with enormous damage and loss of life. All the European Governments have joined France in protesting against the terms of peace between Chile and Peru.

A morning colleague calls the jollification at the Model Market on Sunday "una fiesta Yankee," and objects to the Argentine Hymn having been played on the occasion! This is funny and unpatriotic. What air would you have preferred, colleague?—Yankee Doodle, The Roast Beef of Old England, or St. Patrick's Day in the Morning?

The Riachuelo Regulations, published by some of our colleagues on Saturday, and which caused such a hubbub amongst Boca merchants, turns out to be apocryphal. The genuine ones will be published to-day or to-morrow.

This is a Rule Britannia day at Lanuz. The rain yesterday put the course in nice order for the Southern Railway Athletes, and a capital day's sport is expected. The special leaves the Plaza Constitution early. We wish everybody a jolly day.

The storm only blew down two of the wooden houses at La Plata; the others stood like bricks.

There will be High Mass to-day at 11 a.m. in the Holy Cross Chapel, Calle Caridad.

A rumour of the receipt of a telegram stating that the Grand Old Man had resigned was afloat yesterday morning. Even the most ardent Liberals admit that his Egyptian policy was not the thing. If he goes, or has gone out, there will be no difficulty in annexing Egypt, as the Tories did not make any promise about withdrawing our troops. They will probably pull France short up in Madagascar also, and hint to Russia that she has gone far enough in Central Asia.

The great Autumn Race Meeting takes place to-day at the Palermo Race-course, under the auspices of the Jockey Club. The programme is unusually meagre, as it contains only five events, and of these the only one that gives rise to any speculation is the Maiden Produce Stakes for three-year-old fillies, for which there are twelve entries. Dichosa, belonging to E Casey, is made a hot favourite; and among the other competitors her stable companion, Consuelo, seems to stand the best chance; so that we can safely predict that the popular blue-and-white jacket will be to the front. The other four events, except the last, for which the entries are to be made on the course, seem to be foregone conclusions, and we cannot be far out in giving Waxy for the first race, Gladiator for the second, and Pihuesa for the fourth. The weather is likely to prove delightful after the refreshing down-pour of yesterday; and, notwithstanding the meagreness of the sport, a large and fashionably attended meeting may be looked for.

We see by our valued colleague the Porvenir of Bahia Blanca that they observe the Sabbath in that rising place. All the shops etc, are closed there on Sunday, and three or four traders were sharply fined by the Mayor, Dr Sandoval, last week, for infringing the very salutary Municipal law that enforces Sunday closing. Nothing is thought of in the Argentine Liverpool now but the inauguration of the Railway on the 20th prox, and flags, fireworks, etc, are being manufactured on an enormous scale for the auspicious occasion. There will be two formal banquets, and four pic-nics. Thirty five juicy "vaquillonas" will be roasted for the "oi polloi", and the rejoicings will last several days. To make the fiesta thoroughly racy of the soil, there will be a land auction on the day of the inauguration.

The Rosario Gas Company has reduced the price for its consumers from six to 5½ Nats per thousand cubic feet. A small mercy enough.

We feel great pleasure in saluting our esteemed colleague the Oasis of San Luis on its 8th anniversary. Many happy returns of the day!

On Saturday last two pocket-picking cases occurred, one in the office of the National Bank, 396 Nats, Mr. Mat. Silva being the victim; and the other in the Italian Bank, Don Julio Lavalle being the sufferer to the unpleasantly stiff tune of 3,000 Nats. Both gentlemen had the money in their inside breast pocket, so the thief must have been a master-hand.

The bank in Colastine (Santa Fe) river, which so much impeded navigation is now all but dredged away. It took seven months to do the work, as the bed of the river is full of pieces of wood and lingots of iron—however the latter got there.

The roads are so bad and the horses such bags of bones, that the diligence that runs between Bahia Blanca and La Gama takes two full days to do the journey.

Oh! Instead of lowering his prices at the Colon Theatre this year, as everybody expected, Ferrari has risen them. A 'palco' and four entradas will cost 30 Nats. this year. and a tertulia seat 8. Poor Ferrari will have the Collective Intellectuality at him. That's a fact.

The Politeama was filled to the doors at both performances on Sunday, in spite of the heat. There are two performances to-day also—one at 2 p.m. and the other at night.

The annual church festival at the Choza, Estancia the property of our popular Minister of the Interior Dr. Irigoyen, takes place to-day in the Chapel that forms part of the establishment. The celebration is to be held with unusual splendor this year, and the Apostolic Delegate Monsignor Mattera will be one of the numerous and fashionable guests present. Canon Riserio Molina will officiate. The well known hospitality of Dr. Irigoyen and his aimable family is sure to make the ceremony go off with great eclat.

There was an earthquake in Lottery circles yesterday, owing to Commissary Hernandez having seized no fewer than ten thousand tickets of different unauthorised Lotteries, and representing one million of paper dollars! This is a "verdadero" sickener for the illegal lotteries. One more such blow, and the Capital remains master of the field. The tickets were sent to the Policia in a big box.

The San Juan papers say that General Sarmiento's tomb is being sculptured there, by his own order. (The ruling passion strong in death.) It is, of course, a magnificent affair—a splendid pyramid, with a cross and a crown on the top, and the word Sarmiento on the top of all. As "Pallida Mors" is in question, it would be inconsequent to cry "Viva!" but we hope the old General won't have any use for his gorgeous sepulchre for many years to come.

The people of Pilar parish are about to petition the Lord Mayor to allow no more corpses to be buried in the Recoleta Cemetery.

A bullock-cart driver had a narrow escape on the Southern Railway, near Temperley, on Sunday. He tried to get across the line as the train was coming up, but the cart wheels stuck in the rails; he jumped off and stood by to witness the destruction of all his worldly goods. The cart was smashed into little bits, and the four bullocks were sent rolling over each other, but not one of them was in the least hurt. The cart was past praying for, so the owner dropped a tear over it and went home with his bullocks.

Newspaper property is working up. The negotiation about the change of proprietorship of our much esteemed colleague the Nacional is announced as having been definitively settled. The property was divided in 4 shares between Drs. Del Valle and Lopez and Messrs Alberu and M. A. Rodriguez. Mr Belisario Hueyo has purchased the part belonging to Drs. Del Valle and Lopez in 2,000,000 $ %, the total amount of the property having been valued at 4,500,000 $ %. The newspaper therefore belongs now to Messrs Hueyo, Alberu and Rodriguez, Mr Alberu continuing as hitherto to be the Chief Editor and Manager of the paper.

Dear Sirs,

I have much pleasure in stating that I cured all my flocks this season with the "Golden Leaf Extract" and found the result highly satisfactory, and in future do not intend to use any other dip.

After first using the "Golden Leaf," I found it such a perfect cure for Scab that I recommended it to several of my neighbours who have all proved it equally good.

Yours truly
W. R. GRANT.

Cedulas A	100
Cedulas E	88
Cedulas F	83½
National Bank Shares....	127½

There is a better feeling in the market since the publication of Mr. Balcarce's telegram to Dr. Pacheco, and most people think now, that the market has turned the corner at last, and that soon we shall have exchange up and everything on the mend. The business in stocks presents very little change, National Bank Shares are strong and evidently will be held by the bulls, and not thrown up at the end of the month as some anticipated. The weight of the Cedulas on the market is what is most felt, and very large sums are being taken up to carry Series E. We heard of one loan for 300,000 pats., at 10½ per cent., and several smaller loans taken by the same party amounting to about 300,000 pats., at the same rate. It is probable, therefore, that from now to the end of the month, we shall witness no great change, although the National Bank shareholders expect to see their stock soon at 130. The profits of the National Bank or rather, its earnings, for the first three months of the year amount to one million pats., which makes an average for the year of four millions pats. These figures are certainly sufficient to induce shareholders to hold on to their shares.

It is estimated that the amount of capital that has been sent out of the country during the last 12 months, owing to the curso forsoso scare, is five millions sterling, and now that things are righting themselves and the country has pulled through, this money will have to be drawn for, as it earns abroad possibly 3 per cent per annum, whilst here it gained from 8 to 10, the great difficulty parties will find who have to draw is to pass their exchange, and the moment the exchange begins to go up we shall know that the money is coming back to the Plate.

The following were the sales at the ring during official hours:—

Cedulas—
For cash A 25,000 at 100
For March 31st A 5,000 at 100
For cash E 9,700 at 88
For March. 31st E 20,000 at 88½

Sales, 74,700

National Bank Shares—
For cash 27 at 127½
For March 31st 2,450 at 127½-½-½-½-½-½
For April 30th 1,400 at 129½-129-½-129

Roads and Bridges—
For cash 4,000 at 100

For March 26th 4,000 at 79½

Captain Ormiston, Commander of the steamer Meath, was welcomed on 'Change; he speaks in the very highest terms of the mutton cargo he took home and says that he tried some of the mutton 14 days after it had been taken from on board and that it was as fresh and as good as when first put on board; all the carcases were in splendid order; and he says that some of his mutton was sold in the London market as high as 9d per lb. He leaves next week with his steamer for Campana to load another cargo of mutton, which this time he loads direct in Campana and not as in the former voyage by means of a small steamer in the outer roads.

The amount of exchange passed for the French mail was large, and the chief drawer the Provincial Bank; the closing rates are 5.01 on France and 47½ on London.

Respecting the issue of National Treasury Bills, which has been so grossly exaggerated, the official returns show that the total amount out is only 3,600,000 instead of 20 millions, as most improperly stated.

The Canadian from the R. Plate arrived at Havre on 20th inst.

In the liquidation room this evening there was a great push in National Bank Shares and the stock rose to 129½ for April buyers, and 128 for end of month.

Money ruled easier to-day; the National Bank discounted freely to-day, but the Provincial Bank did not give so much; still in the market money is reported easier.

The R.M.S. Minho has arrived, but her passengers suffer slight quarantine. Mr. Frank Parish, President of the Great Southern Railway, and Madame Parish, also Mr. C. Santa Maria are on board.

Wool arrivals somewhat smaller and the Southern Railway deposits only half filled.

We hear that one of the officers of H.M. gunboat Sylvia has bought an estancia in the South; our regret is that all the officers on board did not buy estancias.

How immensely our trade with Patagones is growing may be seen by the postings of the steamers. Formerly we had only one steamer a month for Patagones, now we have—

Pomona on the 1st every month
Toro on the 8th and 23rd ditto
Loire on the 25th ditto
Villarino once a month.

The fine steamer Sully is the new steamer on the Bahfa Blanca route.

Next week the decree abolishing the old paper money and pesos fuertes will be published. Also the Riachuelo Port traffic decree.

From the Plaza Once de Setiembre we have the following:—

193 waggons arrived with produce.

The arrivals were:—

11,200 @ of wool
7,451 bags of wheat
833 bags of maize
479 bales of hay

and much other produce.

No variation in prices of produce in general. Very little business done and no buyers, owing to the bad weather this morning, and wool continue flat; cow hides and cereals maintain their prices.

The sales were:—

Wool—
1,000 @ inferior, 62, P Ham
Cow Hides—
60 camp, good, 152
Wheat—Per fan. candeal, 92
Wheat—Per fan. Costa, 81
Wheat—Per fan., Salado, 80
Per fan. French, 80
Per fan. Marianopolis, 70
Total, 1,430 fanegas.
Maize—Per fan. morocho in grain at 55½
Maize—Per fan. yellow in grain, 45
Total, 400 fanegas.

EDITOR'S TABLE

The Government is about to ask from the Municipality a part of the old Hospital de Hombres to construct thereon a new Hotel de Inmigrantes. Some lands near the Chacarita, and which can be used in its extension, will be ceded in exchange, and there is no doubt that the exchange will be a mutual benefit.

The pupils of the National College and University are jumping out of their shoes with joy. They are having a month of vacation more than in former years.

The conferences continue between the Presidents of the Banks and the Lord Mayor with the object of raising funds for the expropriation of the Recova and indemnity to the Colon Theatre shareholders. All, however, is going in the smoothest manner possible.

The Governor-elect, Dr. D'Amico, celebrated his birthday anniversary on Sunday, and his house was crowded with friends all day long.

Poor Lacroze! Five hundred Nats fine has been imposed on him for the truly abominable state of his station and stables in Calle Piedad.

The Provincial Minister of Government's department started for La Plata yesterday. The furniture, papers etc. went in thirty enormous cases. In spite of all the push by the Governor and every body else, it is a sheer impossibility to have all the offices etc installed in La Plata by next Monday, as ordered in the decree.

The number of young people with spectacles is increasing wonderfully in this city. It is a bad sign, one of weakness and decadence some say; yet Germans nearly all wear spectacles, and there is not much sign of decadence about them. Spectacles spoil the bewitching eyes of the lovely Porteñas.

A most extraordinary case of elopement has occurred. One of our distinguished-society youths was in the habit of visiting a house inhabited by two ladies, mother and daughter, to the latter of whom he had proposed matrimony. The family was also visited by another high-society stripling, an admirer also of the young lady. In this manner, without suspicion of anything, time passed, until one morning the mother made the alarming discovery that her daughter was no longer in the house. She gave word to the police that her daughter had been stolen, and went to see each of the distinguished youths. Both denied any knowledge of the event, each suggesting the other as the evil-doer. A duel was the consequence, which has not yet come off, and leaves the whole affair still wrapped in mystery. The young lady, up to the present, has neither been found nor heard of.

The Bishop of Salta has issued a vigorous Pastoral, positively forbidding his clergy to mix themselves up in any way with politics or electioneering.

We feel great pleasure in saluting Father Largo M. Leahy, who kindly paid us a visit yesterday. We are very glad to see the Revd. gentleman recovered from his recent severe attack of illness.

In Montevideo now, for weeks past, the truly ridiculous spectacle of dragging a gunboat through the streets of the city is to be seen. The troops are employed in the absurd duty of tugging the vessel through the streets. Why on earth was she not built on stocks near the water's edge, and launched like a decent ship?

What we have often said is coming true. There will be a splendid port at Ensenada long before we have done dreaming about one for Buenos Aires. Mr. Lavalle, C.E., writes to the Provincial Government from Europe to the effect that he has contracted for the "mud digging" at Ensenada with a Dutch Company which will do the whole thing in three years.

Massenet's Company is on the move for the Plate, and will open fire in the Opera House in the beginning of April. They are coming in the Dom Pedro.

A London colleague says:—"No fewer than three managers are said to be competing for the hand (professional) of Miss Mary Anderson after the conclusion of her engagement at the Lyceum. Her receipts at that house have exceeded a weekly average of £2,000.

The new first class carriages of the Western Railway that were built here are only a year in use, yet when it rains the passengers are forced to put up their umbrellas, as the "agua" gets in on all sides. Better stick to the foreign-made article. Argentine wine is not bad, but Argentine railway carriages, paper, cloth and other things are hardly up to the mark.

A large public meeting in Wyoming Territory has requested the President to appoint a woman as Governor. If this is done will she be Governor or Governess? And will she be "Her Excellency" or "Her Sweetness?"—Exchange.
